

How do I use the video with the lapbook?

First and most important, let your child watch the video without interruption. Your child can begin the lapbook at any time once the uninterrupted session of the video is complete. As you work through the lapbook, pause the video when it gets to the subject matter that is covered in each booklet. We make every effort to cover the subject matter in the lapbook sequentially with the movie.

Or, you may choose to let your child work through the lapbook after watching the video in its entirety first. The lapbook will take several days to complete, so you may want your child to watch the video again before continuing with the lapbook each time. The child that likes to watch the same video over and over may prefer this method.

What if my child is not writing yet or does not like to write?

If your child does not write or prefers not to write, we have answer boxes in the back of the lapbook pages that your child can cut out and glue into the booklets. You might prefer to turn the answer boxes into stickers by printing them on a sheet of sticker paper. In some cases, your child can even draw the answer.
